THREE WOLVES AND A LAMB.

Three robbers were walking by the roadside one evening, after a day of profitless anxiety.

'It is a pity,' said one of them, 'that we cannot do better than this. I am unwilling to let a day pass without some gain.'

'Here's a chance,' said another, and as they looked up they saw a man on the brow of the hill before them, riding on a donkey, and by a string leading a sheep with a bell attached to his neck.

'I will steal that sheep,' said the first of the robbers.

'You cannot,' said the second; 'do you not perceive the cord and the bell?'

'I see them,' said the first, 'but they present no obstacle to me. 'I'll steal the sheep'

'If you do,' said the second, 'I'll steal the donkey.'

'What,' said the third, 'steal a man's donkey from under him! You cannot.'

'You will very soon know better,' said the second.

'If you do,' said the third, I'll steal all the clothes the man has upon him, or forfeit my pretensions to professional excellence.'

'Bah!' said the other two, 'you will attempt what you cannot accomplish.'

'We will see,' said the third.

The unsuspecting man was plodding along without thought of injury when the first robber approached and cut the cord and bell from the sheep's neck and attached the bell to the donkey's tail, where its jingle continued to be heard.

In due time the man looked behind to observe the condition of his sheep, and to his horror found it had gone. In dismay and distress he appealed to the first person he met, and asked if he had met any one with a sheep.

'Yes,' replied the person, I saw a man clambering down the hill side with such a prize, but I thought it was his own.'

'Hold my donkey for a moment,' said the man, and as the person did so he went in the woods in the pursuit of robber and his sheep. Finding however, that his pursuit was in vain, he returned, tired and breathless to where he had left the donkey. But lo! it was not there! Sheep and donkey both were stolen from him. Sad and perplexed, he sat down to reflect, and to grieve over his losses, but soon he heard some one wailing in distress. He listened for a moment and the sound became more audible.

'What is this?' he said, 'can any one be more miserable than I.'

But the cry of anguish became louder and still louder. He hastened to the place whence it proceeded, and there beheld a man weeping as if there was no comfort for him.

'What is this my friend,' said he. 'How are you afflicted?'

'Alas,' said the man, 'I am ruined forever.'

'Ruined,' said he, 'how are you ruined?'

'I came to this well for a draught of water, he replied, 'and while I drank I let drop a costly gem, and it lies beneath the water.'

'Is that all?' said he.

'All?' exclaimed the other, 'it is of very great worth.'

'So it may be,' said the honest man, but I have lost my sheep and donkey, which I was unwillingly about to sell at the next market town, that I may pay off some pressing debts, yet I do not bewail my loss.'

'What is that loss,' replied the other, compared to my loss of a gem worth thousands of ducats, and without which it would only cost me my life to return to the king, my master, who sent me with it as a gift to his royal friend beyond the seas.'

'Why do you not go down into the water and recover it,' asked the man.

'Alas!' said the other, 'I cannot swim: I would only drown.'

'Then I will go down for you,' said the good honest man.

'Will you,' exclaimed the other, 'Do so and here are four golden pieces for your trouble—more than the sum of all your losses, and if you regain my treasure, I shall forever owe you my gratitude.'

The honest man received the pieces of gold and placed them in his pocket, and then took off his clothes and descended into the water. But after a long and careful search he came out of the well to ask the stranger which side his gem had fallen, when lo! HE WAS GONE, and the poor countryman was without his sheep, or donkey, or clothing—there all alone by the brink of a deep well—and the robbers were all far away with the trophies of the artful roguery.

BRUTAL.—The Cincinnati Commercial relates the following story of a brute:

A married man in this city who has been for several years past greatly addicted to drinking and abusing his wife, went to his residence in Elm street recently and after threatening to kill her, began, according to custom, to hunt about the house for liquor. He finally found a bottle of what he supposed to be whiskey, when his wife who had been watching him, rushed toward him and dashed the bottle from his hand, whereupon he struck her bleeding to the floor. He afterwards found that the liquor he intended to swallow, was corrosive sublimate dissolved in alcohol. A second more and he would have quaffed the fatal poison. She who preserved his life, he felled like a wild beast to the earth, and when informed of her effort to save him, observed with a fiendish barbarity—'She deserved a beating at any rate, and it could not come amiss.'

Mr. McKay, of East Boston, is now at work upon a clipper ship, which will surpass in size and sharpness, every merchant ship now afloat or known to be in the course of construction. She will be 300 feet long, have 50 feet breadth of beam, 28 feet depth of hold, with three decks, and will register over 3,000 tons. She will be diagonally braced with iron, and built in every particular equal in strength to the best of ocean steamers. Her model in point of beauty, is the wonder and admiration of all who have seen it.—She will have four masts, with Forbes' rig. Mr. McKay builds her on his own account, and will sail her too, if he does not sell her.—Boston Post.

☞ That fellow has seen something of the world who said that the young man who spends all his earnings to appear genteel amongst the ladies, as the fashion is about town, ought to consider that the money which bought that cigar will be needed to buy a pig when he and the young lady get married; that the buggy hire would be needed to buy a load of lumber to build a house; that that extra fine clothing might buy a forty acre lot of land for a home, and that money you paid for a ball ticket for you and Miss —— would come so handy to dress little Alice and Andy.

☞ Governor Hubbard has set apart Thursday, the 25th of November next, as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise.

THE ELECTION.

In a few days more the election for electors of President and Vice President will take place, and already the Whig press is engaged in its usual dirty work of circulating the most infamous and lying stories in relation to Gen: Pierce's private character, We warn our friends to be on their guard against believing any thing which is thus attempted to be crammed down their throats; for no means however base, despicable, and underhanded, will be left untried to induce Democrats to desert their principles and candidates, and to unite with the Whig party in the support of men and measures, which always have, heretofore, and always will have for their object, self agrandizement and a total disregard of the people's interests, to enrich themselves and rob the treasury. We therefore say, be on your guard against such unprincipled politicians:

Democratic (Me) Clarion.

WHO WAS THE HERO OF CHIPPEWA?

The following resolution offered by the late Gen. Wm. H. Harrison, in the United States Senate, February 25th 1828, shows who, in the estimation of the late President and his then associate Senators, was the 'distinguished leader in the glorious battles' on the Niagara frontier—Lundy's Lane among the rest:

'Resolved, That the Senate have learnt, with deep regret, the death of Major General Jacob Brown, the commanding General of the Army, and the distinguished leader in the glorious battle of Chippewa and Erie, in the late war.'

For the future, don't let us hear anything more about the 'distinguished services' of Gen. Scott at Chippewa.—Ib.

The Jackson Mississippian says that Franklin L. Plummer, died in that city a few days ago, in great destitution. Mr, Plummer was once a representative in Congress from Mississippi, a prominent candidate for United States Senator, and Judge of the Circuit Court.

Mr. J. M. Brown, of Batavia, Clermont county, Ohio, a wealthy merchant of that place, died at his residence early on Friday morning of last week, before day, and while dying, and when his friends were surrounding his bed, some scoundrels broke into his store, and after forcing open his iron safe, took therefrom over $3,000 in cash belonging to him, and over $2,000 that had been a day or two before deposited for safe keeping by a friend.

Two resurrectionists (perhaps whigs,) were shot dead at Cincinnati on the 8th, in the City Burying Ground, while in the act of disinterring a corpse.

Eight hundred and fifty foreigners have been naturalized in Hamilton county, Ohio since the 5th of September.

AN IMMENSE WORK.—We see by the Cincinnati papers that their great tunnel is advertised for letting. This is worthy of notice. The hills on the north side of the city rise about 200 feet above the upper plain of the town, obstructing except one direction, the free access of railways to the upper part of the city. A company has been formed to tunnel the hill, for the benefit of all the railways approaching from the Ohio side, and doubtless will be immensely useful. This tunnel will be 6,000 feet in length, and will have 2,000 feet of side cuttings. It is intended to lay it with four tracks, and thus provide free and safe entrance into the city for six or eight different railways, who will each contribute to its receipts, and thus make it very profitable stock. The enterprise is a great one, and if successful, will prove eminently useful.

Thirteen thousand head of hogs have been contracted for by Warren & Co., of Wheeling Va. who are about establishing there an extensive pork establishment. It is stated that contracts have been made by the dealers of Madison, Indiana, for the delivery of some 115,000 head of hogs, all of which says the Courier, will be killed and packed there. Ninety-eight thousand is the greatest number that has ever been packed in that city in one season.

THE FATHERLESS.

Speak softly to the fatherless,
And check the harsh reply
That sends the crimson to the cheek,
The tear-drop to the eye.
They have a weight of loneliness
In this rude world to bear,
Then gently raise the fallen bud—
The drooping floweret spare.

Speak kindly to the fatherless!
The lowliest of their band
God keepeth as the waters,
In the hollow of His hand,
'Tis sad to see life's evening sun
Go down in sorrow's shrond,
But sadder still when morning's dawn
Is darkened by the cloud.
Look mildly on the fatherless!
Ye may have power to wile
Their hearts from saddened memory
By the magic of a smile!
Deal gently with those little ones,
Be pitiful, and He.
The Friend and Father of us all,
Shall gently deal with thee!

SATURDAY OCTOBER 30::::1852

DEATH OF DANIEL WEBSTER.

DANIEL WEBSTER departed this life at his residence, in Marshfield, Massachusetts, at 22 minutes before 3 o'clock, on the morning of Sunday, the 24th.'

Lament his death we may, and feel deeply that sorrow which cannot be expressed. In his decease we have lost a friend, and his country has lost one of her ablest statesmen, and one of her finest orators.

We have seen an article in the Saturday Evening (Phila.] Post, written with great ability and truth, upon the death of this great man, from which we make the following extract—

"In relation to the character of Mr. Webster's greatness, no one will deny that it consisted mainly in the amazing power and compass of his intellect. In this respect, he probably has had no equal among American statesmen, and no superior in any country: We do not mean to imply by this that his views were always correct, or that he was even more generally correct than other leading statesmen—for wisdom is not the production of a great intellect alone: not even so much the product of a great intellect as of a great heart. But it is the almost necessary result of a largely developed and calmly harmonious soul—great alike in the intellect, the will, the affections, and the moral nature."

THE ABOLITIONISTS AND THE ERA.

These gentlemen and their organ, the Era, have been quite still during the State elections: hatching a new brood of declarations of sin against God probably. Meantime they have their agents engaged in travelling throughout this country and Europe, beating up for recruits—praying to God to stand by the right, we trust He may.

The Era seems to take the result of the elections very quietly: perhaps the Editor is better pleased than if the Whigs had succeeded. The transactions of the Pittsburg Convention are just coming out; likewise the Buffalo Conventionist. There is nothing new in the doings of these Conventions: it is the same old thing over again. From the Pittsburg Convention we quote the following:

"That the Constitution of the United States ordained to form a more perfect union, to establish justice, and secure the blessings of liberty, expressly denies to the general Government all power to deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, and therefore the Government, having no more power to make a slave than to make a king, and no more power to establish monarchy, should at once proceed to relieve itself from all responsibility for the existence of slavery wherever it possesses constitutional power to legislate for its extinction."

'Having no more power to make a slave than to make a king.' And who says they have power to make a slave? such a case never happened in this country since the revolution, with the exception of those smuggled from their own country by yankee traders, contrary to law, if we do not mistake.]

The slaves who were here when independence was declared, were brought here by the British. But let us finish the sentence government. * * "And no more power to establish slavery, than to establish monarchy."—And who says they have?

When we shook off the venial tyrant whose galling chain was about to bind us in the worst of slavery, and became an independent nation, we found slavery already established by the same impious hands whom we had drove from our shores in disgrace, leaving their curse, slavery, behind them. Stung to the quick at their disgrace, their descendants in whose veins runs the same savage blood, are now making a handle of slavery to regain their power over us, by the destruction of our government. Who are they we ask, but the descendants of these same British, whose rancourous hearts are bursting with a fiendish jealousy at our happiness and prosperity.

They are the Irish Presbyterians, called the Fardowns—the Congregationists of England and Wales and the Scotch Presbyterians who sold their King for a groat. They are only waiting for the tap of the drum.

But most of all think and shudder at it ye that have minds to think, what can this mean? with the Government still for the nomnitive, (vide the quotation,]—"should at once proceed to relieve itself from all responsibility, for the existence of slavery, wherever it possesses Constitutional power to legislate for its extinction." But Government has no responsibility to relieve itself of, therefore it is nonsense to say that government "should at once proceed" to act upon a matter over which it has no power—Government is restricted by the Constitution from all interference with the private property of sovereign States. But these gentlemen say Government 'should relieve itself,' &c. at once, that is at first, and look into the legality of the matter afterwards. Government would be doing a great business to lay itself liable to an indictment for perjury at the command of every knave and fanatic in the country.* Davy Crockett's maxim was 'Be sure you are right, then go ahead.' Why do they not go openly to the States, and to their legislatures, with their petitions if slavery be their object, why do they not apply for their liberation, where the power to set them free lies? Why do they torment Government, that is Congress, who has no power excepting to pass laws to carry into force the Constitution. Even the States legislatures cannot free them without the consent of the people—none but despotic government can take a man's property without his consent.

But the slave owners are immensipating their slaves as fast as they can provide the means of conveying them out of the country whence they were ignominiously brought.

Great numbers are going out annually, but this sets the Abolitionists raving, they want the colored people to remain in this country, whether bound or free, they know the reason why, perhaps to help kill hogs at Christmas times.

RESOLUTION XX. From the same Pittsburg Convention. But let them speak for themselves—

20. "That the Free Democratic party is not organized to aid either the Whig or Democratic wing of the great Slave Compromise party of the nation, but to defeat them both; and that repudiating and renouncing both, as hopelessly corrupt, and utterly unworthy of confidence, the purpose of the Free Democracy is to take possession of the Federal Government, and administer it for the better protection of the rights and interests of the whole people."

This is throwing off the mask. It is useless to argue with blockheads. So all their gospelspreading and their abolition outcry turns out as we always affirmed it would do, a struggle for a despotic church—cut out tongues, boring tongues with red hot irons—whipping innocent Quaker females on the bare back at the cart-tail. The same vengeance for difference of opinion, still rankles in their hearts.

We shall copy but two more resolutions—

21. "That we inscribe on our banner, Free Soil, Free Speech, Free Labor, and Free Men, and under it will fight on and fight ever, until a triumphant victory shall reward our exertions.

22. That upon this Platform the Convention presents to the American People, as a candidate for the office of President of the United States, John P. Hale, of New Hampshire, and as a candidate for the office of Vice President of the United States, George W. Julian, of Indiana, and earnestly commends them to the support of all freemen and parties."

The Buffalo convention has nearly the same words, mostly copied from the proceedings of the Pittsburg Convention.

One thing more we will take the liberty to mention, viz;

"That no permanent settlement of the slavery question can be looked for, except in the practical recognition of the truth, that slavery is sectional, and freedom national; by the total separation of the General Government from slavery, and the exercise of its legitimate and constitutional influence on the side of freedom, and by leaving to the States the whole subject of slavery and the extradition of fugitives from service."

First they say there must be 'a total separation of the General Government from slavery.' By what legerdemaign do they find out that the general government was ever joined to slavery. Poor creatures they are proof against shame!

* "Should" is tantamount to a command.

GEORGE BRUCE, TYPE FOUNDER,
No. 13 Chamber Street, New York.

We have received at two different time from this Foundry, specimens of the most beautiful, and the greatest variety of type we ever saw, and greater than we ever did see—with splendid borders to suit every design, done in the finest taste imaginable.

We have been looking in the New York papers for an advertisement of Mr. Bruces terms, but find none. We should be most happy to publish his advertisement, and thereby procure a few sorts for our Huntress.

IT WON'T DO.

It is curious how many thousand things there are, which it won't do to do upon this cosy planet of ours, whereon we eat, sleep, and get our dinners. For instance,

It won't do to plunge into a law suit, relying wholly on the justice of your cause, and not equipped beforehand with a brimming purse.

It won't do to tweak a man's nose, or tell him he lies, unless you are perfectly satisfied he has not spunk enough to resent it by blowing your brains out, or (if you have no brains) cracking your skull.

It won't do, when riding in a stage coach to talk of another man whom you have not personally seen, as being an 'all fired scoundrel,' until you are absolutely sure he is not sitting before you.

It won't do, when snow drifts are piled up mountain high, and sleighs are eternally upsetting, to ride out with a beautiful and fascinating girl, and not expect to get smashed with her.

It won't do for a man, when a horse kicks him, to kick back at the horse.

It won't do to crack jokes on old maids, in the presence of unmarried ladies who have passed the age of forty.

It won't do to imagine a Legislature, fed at public crib, will sit but six weeks, when two thirds of the members have not the capacity to earn a decent living at home.

It won't do for a man to bump his head against a stone post, because he conscientiously believes that his head is the hard est.

It won't do when a musxuito bites your face in the night, to beat your own cranium to pieces with your fist, under an impression that you are killing the musquito.

It won't do for a chap to imagine a girl is indifferent to him because she studiously avoids him in company.

It won't do for a young lady to presume that more than a third of the gentlemen who show her pointed attentions, have the most distant idea of marrying her.

It won't do for a man to fancy a lady is in love with him because she treats him civilly, or that she has virtually engaged herself to him, because she has always endured his company.

THE ELECTION.

In a few days more the election for electors of President and Vice President will take place, and already the Whig press is engaged in its usual dirty work of circulating the most infamous and lying stories in relation to Gen: Pierce's private character. We warn our friends to be on their guard against believing any thing which is thus attempted to be crammed down their throats; for no means however base, despicable, and underhanded, will be left untried to induce Democrats to desert their principles and candidates, and to unite with the Whig party in the support of men and measures, which always have, heretofore, and always will have for their object, self agrandizement and a total disregard of the people's interests, to enrich themselves and rob the treasury. We therefore say, be on your guard against such unprincipled politicians.

TEN YEARS AGO.

I am sitting at my mirror,
Gazing on an alter'd brow,
Oh! can it be this is the face
So bright ten years ago!
Where are the cheeks' warm roses
With their blushing ruby dyes,
And the mellow lustre gleaming
In the blue unclouded eyes?

They have faded—I can read it,
Here reflected clear and cold,
And the startling truth breaks on me,
I am surely growing old!
Ah! what visions cluster round me,
As my glance I backward throw,
To the glowing hopes that crown me
In those days, 'ten years ago.'

Time at my heart is knocking,
As I view the mirror o'er,
And memory is unlocking
The long buried scenes of yore.
I am thinking of glad voices,
Echoes soft and sweet and low
And how many have grown silent,
Since this time 'ten years ago.'

Human flowers have sprung around me,
In pure childhood's loving guise,
Some are blooming fair and stately,
Some transplanted to the skies!
Cherish'd friends, the best & dearest
That this life can ever know,
They have left me, who made sunshine,
'Round my path, 'ten years ago.'

I regret not waning beauty,
All too fragile long to last,
'Tis but a slight remembrance,
'Mid the radiance of the past.
For still my faithful mirror,
Can give back a smile I know,
And the true heart thrills unchanging yet
As it did 'ten years ago!'

TO PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS.

On the seventh page of this sheet is a list of all publications issued by the different publishing houses in the U. States, during the month ending March 31, 1851, of which we have been able to procure any information with such particulars as have been communicated to us.

It is our intention to continue the publicationin paper monthly for a time, and to insert theren mouth.sly, a list of all the publications issued i

"Seeing what a cure it effected on him, I was induced to a; ply it to a SCROFULOUS SORE ON MY NOSE which was much inflamed and ulcerated, having discharged matter for six years. To my surprise and astonishment, by the use of one box, the ulcer was healed and the cavity is filling out."

Also we intend to commence shortly the publication of a list of all the booksellers in the United States and Canada whose names and post offices we may be able to obtain—alphabetically arranged.

S. S. Buffum, of Uniontown, Ill., last fall purchased a dozen, and writes—It has long been sold, and every one effected a cure.

John Miller, of Millersburg, Ky., writes—"My father has suffered greatly for forty years with Chronic Inflammation of the Eyes, and has been entirely cured by using AM. EYE SALVE."

NEW GOLD PENS.

Taylor & Maury, booksellers, Pennsylvania avenue near 9th street, have just received a supply of splendid gold pens of the best patterns, at every price, from fifty cents to five dollars. Among them will be found Rapp's celebrated niche pens—the most approved pen extant from its close resemblance to the quill; and being made of many degrees of flexibility to suit any handwriting.

A GEM FOR THE HOME CIRCLE.

Something New in the Literary World.

A MAMMOTH WEEKLY OF THE FIRST ORDER.

Those desirous of procuring a weekly paper conducted with the highest regard for correct taste, blending instruction with amusement, one that cannot fail to prove an agreeable companion to the Mechanic, Farmer, Merchant, and Professional Man—also to the Maid or Matron, are informed that the fifth volume of AMERICA'S OWN commenced on the 11th of Sept. 1852, on which occasion the paper was enlarged and appeared in a new dress, by far excelling anything in the way of a paper ever got out either in Europe or America. The publishers do not feel disposed to enumerate the many superior points this paper possesses over all others, but merely give the opinion of disinterested persons whose extensive knowledge enables them to judge correctly of its merits.

We consider it the best family newspaper published. Louisville Varieties.

It is a high toned and interesting Journal of Literature. Its editors are men of sterling ability. George Lippard.

A valuable Journal, devoted to the elevation of the workingmen of the Union. It is conducted with signal ability. Emporium, Ohio.

It is of that class whose intrinsic valut is beyond all calculation. Rep. Standard, Pa.

It is one of the best reform papers in the country. Sunday Mercury, Philadelphia.

We have perused the number before us with a great deal of pleasure and profit. It contains some excellent tales by distinguished authors, intelligent letters from all parts of the Union; reports and proceedings of scientific and literary institutions; together with a vast variety of useful information in agricultural and domestic matters, the whole well spiced with wit and humor. Democrat, Pa.

It is an excellent family newspaper. Advocate, Stamford, Connecticut.

It is far ahead of any Eastern paper we have examined, it is a most welcome visitor to our sanctum, and we always greet its coming with delight. Its columns never fail to glisten with choice gems of literature. Southern Illinoison.

Its contents, unlike most other mammoth city weeklies, making pretension to literary merit, are really instructive and amusing, interesting and useful, and of that character which must always command attention from every class of readers. Transcript, Pa;

THE CHRISTIAN STATESMAN

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER,

Devoted to African Colonization and Civilization, to Literature and General Intelligence.

The undersigned propose to publish in the city of Washington a weekly newspaper, bearing the above title, and dedicated to a sound morality in politics, to the Union of the States, to the cause of African colonization and civilization, and to all topics of a high and general Werest to their country and mankind. They will endeavor to impress upon the people and Governments of the United States and of the several States the importance of colonizing in Africa, with their own consent, the free people of color of this country, and such as may become free. They will communicate to the public all important information they may obtain in regard to the geography, exploration, resources, commerce, and population of Africa; the state of the slave trade, and the measures best adapted for its suppression; and will enforce the duty of union among all Christian denominations in efforts to diffuse the knowledge of our religion and Christianity among the barbarous people of that continent.

They will aim to render the journal an instructive and useful Family Newspaper, and, to secure for its columns, as the public favor shall enable them, contributions, literary and scientific, of decided merit.

The Christian Statesman will be of the size of the Home Journal or National Era, and exceed in size the Intelligencer or the Union of this city; and, with but few advertisements, will be nearly filled with matter designed to be of interest to its readers.

It will be printed with new type, on fine white paper, and in mechanical execution be equal to the best newspapers in the country.

On the seventh page of this sheet is a list of all publications issued by the different publishing houses in the U. States, during the month ending March 31, 1851, of which we have been able to procure any information with such particulars as have been communicated to us.

It is our intention to continue the publicationin paper monthly for a time, and to insert theren month.sly, a list of all the publications issued i

"Seeing what a cure it effected on him, I was induced to a; ply it to a SCROFULOUS SORE ON MY NOSE which was much inflamed and ulcerated, having discharged matter for six years. To my surprise and astonishment; by the use of one box, the ulcer was healed and the cavity is filling out."

Also we intend to commence shortly the publication of a listof all the booksellers in the United States and Canada whose names and post office we may be able to obtain—alphabetically arranged.

S. S. Buffum, of Uniontown, Ill., last fall purchased a dozen, and writes—It has long been sold, and every one effected a cure.

John Miller, of Millersburg, Ky., writes—"My father has suffered greatly for forty years with Chronic Inflammation of the Eyes, and has been entirely cured by using AM. EYE SALVE.',

NEW GOLD PENS.

Taylor & Maury, booksellers, Pennsylvania avenue near 9th street, have just received a supply of splendid gold pens of the best patterns, at every price, from fifty cents to five dollars. Among them will be found Rapp's celebrated niche pens—the most approved pen extant from its close resemblance to the quill; and being made of many degrees of flexibility to suit any handwriting.

A GEM FOR THE HOME CIRCLE.

Something New in the Literary World.

A MAMMOTH WEEKLY OF THE FIRST ORDER.

Those desirous of procuring a weekly paper conducted with the highest regard for correct taste, blending instruction with amusement, one that cannot fail to prove an agreeable companion to the Mechanic, Farmer, Merchant, and Professional Man—also to the Maid or Matron, are informed that the fifth volume of AMERICA'S OWN commenced on the 11th of Sept. 1852, on which occasion the paper was enlarged and appeared in a new dress, by far excelling anything in the way of a paper ever got out either in Europe or America. The publishers do not feel disposed to enumerate the many superior points this paper possesses over all others, but merely give the opinion of disinterested persons whose extensive knowledge enables them to judge correctly of its merits.

We consider it the best family newspaper published.—Louisville Varieties.

It is a high toned and interesting Journal of Literature. Its editors are men of sterling ability.—George Lippard.

A valuable Journal, devoted to the elevation of the workingmen of the Union. It is conducted with signal ability.—Emporium, Ohio.

It is of that class whose intrinsic value is beyond all calculation.—Rep. Standard, Pa.

It is one of the best reform papers in the country.—Sunday Mercury, Philadelphia.

We have perused the number before as with a great deal of pleasure and profit. It contains some excellent tales by distinguished authors, intelligent letters from all parts of the Union; reports and proceedings of scientific and literary institutions; together with a vast variety of useful information in agricultural and domestic matters, the whole well spiced with wit and humor.—Democrat, Pa.

It is an excellent family newspaper.—Advocate, Stamford, Connecticut.

It is far ahead of any Eastern paper we have examined, it is a most welcome visitor to our sanctum, and we always greet its coming with delight. Its columns never fail to glisten with choice gems of literature.—Southern Illinoisan.

Its contents, unlike most other mammoth city weeklies, making pretension to literary merit, are really instructive and amusing, interesting and useful, and of that character which must always command attention from every class of readers.—Transcript, Pa;
